WASHINGTON:

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 25

a The Liquor Bill." On Monday evening next the Common Council of Washington will have an important duty to perform, in finally acting upon the law recity, but simply all other persons who sell or barter such liquors in quantities less than a pint. It originated with the Common Council, by whom it was passed two weeks ago; but was on Monday last materially altered and improved by the Board of Aldermen.

Its object is to suspend all dramshops, oyster house bars, and other establishments in which liquors are sold, except where "a majority of . the white housekeepers residing on the side of the same square, and on the side of the square front-. ing opposite where the establishment for the sale or barter of such enumerated liquors is proposed . to be located or opened," shall unite in recommending the granting of such license to a particular person. The penalty imposed for each violation of this law is a fine of "not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars, or imprisonment in the workhouse for a term not exceeding ninety days."

The Common Council will, no doubt, approve the alterations of the Board of Aldermen, and it would be to offer an indignity to his honor the Mayor to doubt for a moment that the bill will receive his official sanction. We may, therefore, regard as certain the creation of this law; and we hail with delight its advent, and offer our hearty thanks to its authors and to all who have assented to its passage. It will prove a just, a humane, and a beneficent law. It will remove from many neighborhoods in this city the most baneful and pernicious sources of evil they contain; it will remove from the young the obscure haunts of temptation to which they covertly resort; and it will restore to honest and honorable pursuits a large number of persons who are now seducing men from the paths of sobriety, industry, and respectability. It will, also, cause the people of every square of the city to purify the neighborhood in which they dwell, or to assume the responsibility of all the disorder and scandal to which a degraded grog-selling establishment may give We think we can discern in this bill the omis sion of some specifications that experience will call for; but it is on this account scarcely less | the famous artistes. acceptable to us. Perhaps it is better that it should not be over-stringent at the first. Let it be enacted, and let it go into operation, and let its effects be seen and felt. If then it shall be approved, and if the desire shall exist to enhance its efficiency, it will be well; but if the citizens of Washington shall desire its repeal, we will render a cheerful acquiescence in their decision. We have no confidence in the wisdom of any law that has not the popular sanction. Let, therefore, this law be perfected, and give to it a faithful and willing obedience, holding to strict accountability every one who attempts to violate the will of the community thus formally and deliberately expressed. Do this, and of the consequences proceeding therefrom we shall never complain.

"Spirituous liquors, wines, cordials, malt quantities not less than a pint by all grocers who the subject, choose to deal in them; they will also be sold in smaller quantities by those who can procure the required recommendation, and by all keepers of real hotels and taverns. These will afford ample accommodations to every one. None need complain of the abridgment of their liberty to drink, and even to get drunk, should their tastes so incline them. And yet there an absence of several months in Great Britain will be closed up a very large number of noisome rendezvous of lazy and degraded sots, now the sources of a vast amount of crime and misery.

There will still be drinking and drunkenness; but let us not hence undervalue the influence of this law. Let us be thankful for all it shall accomplish, rather than regretful that it cannot accomplish more. It will present no impediment to the friends of temperance in the prosecution of their labors; but, on the centrary, will, in its operation, afford them the practical and tangible proofs of what may be done by discreet, judicious, and gradual legislation.

The following is the bill in question, as amended by the Board of Aldermen, and to be considered on Monday evening by the Common

AN ACT amendatory of an act laying a tax on shops, porter-cellars, and confectioneries, and increasing the tax on ordinaries, retailers, theatrical amusements, and porter-central, and contentionerse, and harvesting that on ordinaries, retailers, the atrical amusements, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted, That, from and after the first Monday of November next, the Mayor is authorized to issue licenses for the purposes following, and on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned, to wit:

For a license to sell or barter all kinds of spirituous liquors, wines, cordinals, malt liquors, and cider, in quantitles less than a pint, sixty dollars.

That before issuing any license as aforesaid the Mayor shall be fully satisfied of the legal responsibility and good character of the persons applying for such license; and there shall also be before the Mayor the recommendation of a majority of the white housekeepers residing on the same side of the same square, and on the side of the square fronting opposite where the establishment for the sale or harter of sugh enumerated liquors is proposed to be located or opened, which recommendation shall be certified by the Commissioner of the Ward as having been signed as aforesaid for the issuing of such licenses. All licenses under this act shall be made to expire the first day of November next ensuing the issue thereof.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted. That any person or persons convicted of selling or bartering either or any of the liquors enumerated in the first section of this act, contrary to law, shall be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars for each offence; and in default of the payment of such fine, or of giving such security for the payment of such fine, or of giving such security for the payment thereof as shall be satisfactory to the Police Magistrate by whom judgment was rendered, shall be committed to the workhouse for a term not exceeding ninety days.

How beautiful is this October sun! how pleasant are its breezes! how delightful the sky above us, and the earth beneath! and how happy are the thousands who walk upon this that a robber had been in the house, and was portion of the fair earth-this "land of the free!" So long as the rays of that golden sun diately went in search, and followed the robber shall continue to invigorate and cheer this heritage, so long may freedom, prosperity, and concealment. He was promptly secured and peace be ours! Selah!

Virginia Elections

The Norfolk or First District .- General Millson, the late able and highly respected representative, is re-elected by a majority unprecedented of late years in that district, although his Whig opponent, Leopold C. P. Cowper, is a noble; estimable, and highly talented gentleman. The Herald thus imperfectly explains the matter: "We are satisfied now that the Whigs in this law does not affect the hotels and taverus of the party, after the manner and appliances of their opponents, who raise no question about their man, if he is true to their principles; and by taking special care that all the public patronage within their reach shall enure to their partisans, they are always enabled to present an unbroken front at elections, and thus maintain their ascendency."

We suppose a webuke is here implied of those who do not take care of their friends. If so, and if the national Executive is aimed at, we have only to say the Herald little knows how hard it would be for them to decide who are their friends! A good many days, if not weeks, have passed since we heard any Whig in this city avow a preference for any one now in authority to General Scott, in the selection of a candidate for the next election; and we have heard a very large number of men in office express their private views on the subject!

WHEELING, Oct. 24 .- The returns thus far received from this, the Fifteenth Congressional District, leave little doubt of the election of Thompson, (Dem.) over Haymond, (Whig.) Thompson gains 200 in Ohio county, and his majority in Brooke is 79, and in Marshall, 25. RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—Judge Caskie (Dem.) is elected in this district by about 350 majority over Botts, (Whig.) He carries Chesterfield, Henrico, Hanover, Powhatan and Louisa counties. Mr. Botts carries Richmond city by the reduced majority of 399 votes.

Tenth District.—There is no doubt of the election of Faulkner, (Whig,) to Congress, over Bedinger, being a Whig gain.

P. S .- We learn by telegraph that in the tenth district Warren county has given Bedinger only seventy-five majority, thus insuring Faulkner's election.

The New Constitution everywhere prevails, by great majorities.

THE OPERATIC CONCERT on Monday evening will probably exceed any thing our citizens have heard in many years, if ever. It will be well attended, if we may judge from the sanguine anticipations of all who speak of it. We look for a brilliant assemblage-for an array of beauty even more entrancing than the music of

[From the New York Herald, of yesterday.] The European News by the Hermann The steamer Hermann, which arrived at this port yesterday, brings four days' later intelligence from Europe. She also brings the fine complement of one hundred and sixty passen-gers. Among them is Mr. James G. Bennett, the editor and proprietor of this journal, after and on the Continent.

The news by this arrival is of no special importance. The political affairs of France and upon the surface, but full of the elements of popular discontent, on the one hand, and of uneasiness among the tinkering cabinets on the other. A prominent feature of continental affairs is the universally embarrassed condition of the finances of all the various nationalities. Scarcely a single State, principality, or dukedom of Europe is in a condition either to lend or to borrow; for, excepting Holland, all appear to be short of funds and of the credit necessary to meet the liabilities, even, of a peace establishment. Under such circumstances, the great powers are all under the same necessity of preserving the peace; and this necessity of averting the expensive arbitrament of war in any case may possibly operate to postpone the final settlement of accounts with the people. A general war would be followed by a general bankruptcy. How different is the condition of these United States, with the prodigious resources of the cotton of the South and the gold of California! How amply able, in the face of the exhausted and decrepit state of the powers of Europe, to give them good counsel and advice!

The refusal of the government of France to allow Kossuth to pass through her territory, appears to have nettled the distinguished Hungarian considerably, if we may judge from the revolutionary address which, in consequence of the said refusal, he directed to the "Democrats of Marseilles." From this address, whatever may have been the policy of France, it is pretty evident that the policy of Kossuth is exactly the reverse of that of Louis Napoleon.

ROBBER CAUGHT .- About two o'clock this morning officers Coxe, Fowler, and Cross heard some noise in the boarding house of Mrs. Peyton, corner of the Avenue and Four-and-a half street, and posted themselves near the door. In a few minutes the door opened and three men, days.

Tobacco was firm. Naval stores unchanged. Rice, 14@16.

The political news is unimportant. The Queen met with brilliant receptions verywhere throughout her tour. Kossuth will come a passenger in the Oriental and Peninsular Company's steamer from Gibraltar, and not in the Mississippi. The revenue returns show an increase over the corresponding quarter of last year. The bank of Messrs. Williams, at Newport, has suspended accounts. At Sidney it is stated that gold continued to be found in large quantities, and the whole

Austrian population are flocking there. Prince de Joinville has declined the nominanation for the Northern Department. Reports of a change in the Ministry are still current. Stocks have declined-5's offered at 91.
